When Christmas Comes

When the holiday which is first above all other holidays comes, you wish to be satisfied with the gifts you have made and to know that they have been appreciated by those who have received them. You may choose wisely and well at this store. From among the many desirable things in our immense stocks we are listing only a few that would be particularly appropriate. We have many other things on our shelves that would be in good taste and that would give pleasure to any recipient.

If It Is a Gift for Man or Boy,

Stetson GLOVES

PROPERLY gloved, the finishing touch of a well dressed man. And the Stetson name on the clasp is the best assurance.

Stetson gloves of domestic and imported fabrics, kids and leathers offer the proper glove for every purpose and every occasion.

Not only the proper glove, but the best glove that money can buy—and the best part of it all is that Stetson gloves are not high priced.

There are Stetson gloves for women and children as well as for men.

Why not give him a pair of silk socks? We have them also in silk and wool, the natty, class y kind that spell good taste and comfort to the wearer; a silk or wool muffler or a Cheney silk tie or a new Spur tie, the kind that is not ruined by tying.

Linen Handker- chiefs

are good and also dressy shirts; and the newest thing in shirts is a white English broadcloth with or without collars.

Then, too, a bath robe makes a splendid gift and we have them in many kinds at just the prices you would like to pay.

Hats make splendid presents and a Stetson or a Dobbs is always in good form.

Gloves? We have them in many styles from the warm wool gloves to the fine kid for formal dress in the very best makes.

Belts, suspenders, collar and cuff buttons, and then suits and overcoats, a sweater or a suit case or a pair of Dunlap or Walk-Over shoes, a man's umbrella and a pair of house slippers.

ROTHSCHILD
